FROM THE VICE CHANCELLOR, NALSAR UNIVERSITY

The enactment of the Insolvency and Bankruptcy Code has been a critical turning point in reducing the Non-Performing Assets (NPAs) of our banking system. The turnaround of sick companies is a critical process for ensuring sustainable growth of our economy. The turnaround process is a multipronged approach and focuses on social, economic, financial and legal aspects of a company. This multipronged approach requires an in-depth understanding of various streams of law, management and social sciences. Keeping in view the multidimensional approach the practice requires, NALSAR University of Law, Hyderabad in collaboration with the Indian Institute of Corporate Affairs, New Delhi launched a two-year master's program in Insolvency and Bankruptcy Code, to produce well-trained professionals with a unique blend of academic, research and practice attributes. The program has been garnering a lot of plaudits since its introduction last year. The constant engagement with corporates, lawyers and judiciary has been receiving much praise from all the stakeholders. The current students are performing exceptionally well and have been winning laurels for both the institutions. I am sure the partnership with IICA will definitely help in producing professionals with unparalleled legal acumen. I invite all of you to come visit the beautiful campus of NALSAR University of Law at Hyderabad to interact with our seasoned faculty members and highly energetic students of the Insolvency and Bankruptcy Program.

ABOUT NALSAR

The National Academy of Legal Studies and Research (NALSAR) was established in 1998 by a Statute of the State of Andhra Pradesh. Since its inception, the University has been home to vital conversations on law and justice. These conversations have acknowledged that questions of justice arise in all legal pursuits whether in the world of courts, corporations, or education administration. Using law as an instrument of social change the University has supported crusades for land rights, disability empowerment, against moral policing and hate speech. NALSAR is committed to the creation of an ethical legal culture, which protects and promotes the rule of law.

With students admitted from all over the country and faculty drawn from home and abroad, NALSAR is counted amongst the top law schools of the country. We are proud of the position but do not see it as defining us. Students and administration revel in laughing at themselves and others. Humour both black and genial will be found aplenty at NALSAR.

In accord with its liberal outlook, legal education is imparted in an interdisciplinary manner. Consequently, there is convergence between the disciplines of law, social sciences, humanities, and management studies in both developing and executing the curriculum in the various degree and diploma courses.

LL.M. IN NALSAR

The LL.M course offered by the National Academy of Legal Studies and Research (NALSAR University) and Indian Institute of Corporate Affairs (IICA) is a first of its kind LL.M. Degree program in Insolvency and Bankruptcy Laws and Procedures Law in India. India has a huge, emerging sector for helping distressed and bankrupt companies come out of financial difficulty. But it faces a huge shortage of bankruptcy professionals who can oversee the process. The number of Insolvency Professionals and Insolvency Associates is very less considering the number of filings taking place every day at NCLT. Therefore, there is a serious need to produce good insolvency associates and ecosystem for providing the support to IPs, IPA, Consultancies, Law Firms, ARCs and Academia. Therefore, the Master level course / orientation in Insolvency and Bankruptcy Laws is the need of the hour. There is a vacuum in this area in the legal educational system in the country and this course seeks to fill up this vacuum.

THE NALSAR EXPERIENCE

My experience in NALSAR has been a total change of winds. The expectations of the faculties for us students to put in effort in understanding the concepts and showing our ideas in terms of theory and application is a welcome change. At the same time, the institution expects a great deal from its students and it expects the students to genuinely put efforts and struggle. This rigorous process ensures that the students are prepared for the real-world scenarios that await us in the future.
